The job of adjusting student activities to a war-time basis was one which faced this Council, and the fact that most of the activities survived and new ones were formed is proof that the work of the '43-'44 Council was commendable.

That Modern Dance holds a significance for an ever-increasing student body is proof enough that our aim—to promote Dance as an art form—has been furthered. The various performances this season include a demonstration at the W. A. A. Freshman Party, a presentation of "Adoration of the Magi" at the Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Church, and appearances at Buff 'n Blues, Parents' Night, and May Day. The highlight of the season was the eighth annual demonstration-recital, which was, to quote the "Washington Post," "novel and artistic," and quoting the "Hatchet," "a noteworthy artistic achievement." Under the inspiring direction of Miss Elizabeth Burtner, Orchesis and Junior Dance have completed their most successful season to date.

Final scene from "Adoration of the Magi."

To you who will live in the new world of tomorrow . . . May you go forth into the dimness of that uncertain future, a college generation staunch and unafraid. From the depths of the old world has come a challenge which the rising tides of the present fling at the feet of the college generation. Sacrifice and sorrow are a part of this challenge, but the greatest battle will come after the armistice. The task of rebuilding amid the ruins of a war-torn world a new civilization based on accord rather than discord will be mammoth, but we have faith in the leaders of tomorrow. Our students today are equal to the future's demands. . . . They will take up the challenge of the present and under their leadership a better world will emerge.

Although there were no varsity sports at the University this year, sports did play a major part in the school's co-curriculum. Under the guidance of the physical education department headed by Mr. William Myers, intramural sports gained prestige and followers as they took over the spot vacated by varsity athletics. In addition, a group of University students formed a basketball team which participated in leagues in the city.

The G. W. "informals," as the independent basketball team was known, was organized by two former varsity players, Si Wagman and Barry Kreisberg, and found willing financial support from John S. Jacobsen, Washington sports enthusiast. Under the management of Mervin Lewis and Eddie Shapiro the team was entered in the Heurich Basketball League and the Y. M. C. A. Centennial Tournament. The team won the second round championship in the Heurich League and had its star forward, Si Wagman, named the most valuable player in the league. The team hit its peak of perfection in the tournament. Playing five games in six days the "Informals" crashed through all opposition to win the championship. Barry Kreisberg and Si Wagman took top scoring honors in the league, and made the All-Star Team.

The Independent Bomber team won the intramural basketball championship with a record of twelve wins and no losses in its season play. Baseball also played a large part in the physical education program.

Boxing had a very successful season this year and the turnout for the annual boxing Tournament was the best in some years. The fighters, under the tutelage of George "Doc" Lentz, did much to advance the cause of boxing in the school as a post-war varsity sport. Nine new champions were declared and the Most Outstanding Boxer's Award went to John Hewgill who won the 155-pound boxing championship. The other winners were: 130-pound, Jack Nall; 135-pound, Alex Levin; 140-pound, Reggie Stabler; 145-pound, Arthur Cohen; 150-pound, Dick Roberts; 160-pound, Dave Lenarduzzi; 180-pound, Leon Horowitz; 190-pound, Bob Hirsch.

ATHLETICS

The wide variety of sports activities this year, some of which are shown on these pages, has offered unlimited opportunities for the women students of the University to show their athletic ability, to keep fit by exercise, and to have a good time.

The professors of the Physical Education Department—Miss Ruth H. Atwell, Miss Helen Lawrence, Miss Elizabeth Burtner, Mrs. Camille Craig, Miss Helen Marie Byars, and Mrs. Edith Woodson—together with the Women's Athletic Association and the Inter-Sorority Athletic Council, have made women's sports an important part of student life at the University.

In the fall, soccer and hockey were again the most popular sports, the hockey enthusiasts playing in view of the Washington Monument, while the soccer fans kicked the ball near the Lincoln Memorial. Maryland University and Trinity College joined with the University in a successful three-way hockey meet, and the fall season was climaxed by the Sports Day at Hood College, where the two schools competed for top honors in soccer, hockey, and tennis. The fall riding classes of more than sixty members took part in a colorful riding show, and a tennis doubles tournament was held.

Driven indoors for the winter, the girls increased their skills in basketball, modern dance, and badminton. As in the other team sports, the Odd and Even teams were selected from the section and class teams of the Freshman and Junior, and Sophomore and Senior classes, respectively, and from these skilled players were chosen the honorary varsity. The varsity team was victorious over the alumnae team captained by Helen Marie Byars. The badminton and ping-pong tournaments attracted an increased number of participants this year.

Spring days meant tennis, square and folk dancing, the introduction of softball, and leading the sports—swimming. The W. A. A. and the Inter-Sorority Athletic Council together sponsored the annual swimming meet at the Y. W. C. A.

All women's sports activities were geared to wartime objectives, from the requirement for fundamentals in physical fitness classes for freshmen to the classes for major students.

In addition to the emphasis upon physical fitness, an attempt was made by the students interested in sports to aid in the war effort by providing recreation for service women and others vitally concerned by the war. This was done through an organization—GWAROS—sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. Sports Nights in the gym for service women at which basketball was the main feature were held, and for a time hostesses were provided for the Arlington Farms Recreation Building.

Representatives from the women's services and the Red Cross were the guest speakers at the general association meetings. The annual fall dinner for college women given by the W. A. A. could be called the highlight of the women's sports year. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt spoke to a packed room on "The Place of Recreation in War and Peace."

Chi Upsilon was organized for the purpose of giving the women in the Geology Department an opportunity to meet together and, by a definite program of activities, of stimulating greater interest in the many phases of the science. The yearly program includes field trips conducted by either professional geologists or members of the National Park Service and a series of winter lectures open to all students of the University who may be interested. One of the foremost aims of Chi Upsilon is the furtherance of high standards of scholarship among the women of the University, and to this end, Epsilon Chapter has offered each year a prize to the outstanding woman student in Geology.

Aesculapian, honorary premedical society, has served as a constructive force in crystalizing movements for the good of the premedical students, and has helped bridge the gap between the spirit of the premedical training and that of the school of medicine. Aesculapian is more than an honorary organization, having a very active program. The members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, medical interest, and personality.

The Columbian Women of The George Washington University have planned and worked to achieve worthy educational ideals in our National Capital for fifty years. The members of this organization celebrated its golden anniversary year with a breakfast at the Hamilton Hotel on January 23. Fourteen past presidents attended the breakfast.

The Society of The Columbian Women of The George Washington University offers membership to alumnae, students of the University, wives of members of the faculty, trustees, and officers of the University, and recipients of honorary degrees.

The founders of The Columbian Women built wisely and well. The objects of the founders and of the organization today indicates its high purpose. One reads these words in the Constitution: "The objects of this organization shall be the promotion of acquaintanceship among its members; the advancement of women by the founding of scholarships in the various departments of the University; and the promotion of the interests of the University."

Miss Mary Charlotte Priest founded The Columbian Women in 1894. Thirty-three women have followed in her footsteps as President of this organization. Mrs. Watson W. Eldridge, Jr., our present President, reports the permanent scholarship funds, now invested by the University, total $20,000. The present roster lists over four hundred and fifty members.

In conclusion the writer wishes to quote a short paragraph she once used in describing the significance of The Columbian Women of The George Washington University. "Only they are great who share their talents, blessings, privileges, and character with others, particularly those who are younger and are being prepared to assume the responsibilities of worthy adult life. Columbian Women for fifty years have truly lived in this idealistic sense. Education belongs to the ages. Its affect is immortal; and may the members of The Columbian Women of The George Washington University go forth into the years that lie ahead with the thought that he who gives to education gives to immortality."

A sign of the times on George Washington's campus was Staughton Hall, a second girls' dormitory which was initially intended to house G. W. men. This dormitory, redecorated and opened last October for women who are employed chiefly in government agencies and who take night classes, accommodates approximately ninety girls. Although school and government demand rationed time, Sunday night suppers, parties and picnics have added to Staughton's friendly atmosphere.

"Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting, get understanding." Proverbs 4:7.

Christian Science Organization at the George Washington University, founded in 1931 and composed of students and faculty members interested in Christian Science, is one of the seventy-six such organizations in universities in the United States, England, and Canada. The aim of the group is to aid University students in obtaining a more comprehensive understanding of education and service, and in attaining greater spiritual development through the study and application of this science in all University activities.

Regular meetings are held in Columbian House each month on the first and third Thursday evenings at 9:10 and on the second Thursday at 12:10 noon.

Authorized periodicals on Christian Science as well as the international daily newspaper, "The Christian Science Monitor," are maintained in the University Library by this organization. The annual reception, to which all students and faculty members are invited, was held October 30, 1943, and was addressed by Mr. James Howard Beck, Christian Science Wartime Minister for the Washington area. A free lecture on Christian Science was given by Mr. Adair Hickman, C.S.B., of New York City, New York, member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, on April 15, 1944.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Staff of the "Cherry Tree" wishes to express heartiest thanks:

To Mrs. Lacy, Mrs. Greene and Mr. Herzog of the Comptroller's Office for their patience and untiring work.

To the Publications Committee for consideration of our problems.

To President Marvin for issuing a plan to the Committee, which allowed us to publish.

To the Student Council for their help and suggestions.

To the "Hatchet" for its loyal support.

To Mr. John T. Benson and the Benson Printing Company for their endless work and assistance.

To the student photographers who always work under difficulty.

To the members of the staff who worked faithfully in order to give you this book.

To our advertisers who ask only support in return for theirs.

And finally to the students who realized the importance of having an annual and were willing to back us unceasingly, both individually and through their organizations.
